

Bridal Shower Favors: Let Them Know they are Special Too

Your wedding day ranks right up there as one of the most important days ever. In order to make the occasion an experience you will always cherish many people you care deeply about such as family and friends come together to make the occasion all you ever dreamed. So much detailed planning and focus goes into getting everything just right. Everyone wants to make their wedding day one of the most memorable events of their lifetime and nothing touches the heart more than knowing your friends and family were selfless in their efforts of dedication with that same wish in mind.

While the bridal party is busy leaving no stones unturned you can make this day special for them as well by giving bridal shower favors with some personality, usability, and uniqueness. After all, they helped make your intimate occasion beautiful, special, and full of gracious memories for years to come. And you want to make them feel the overwhelming appreciation you have for all they have done.

A beauty bar is crowd-pleasing idea. Set up a display complete with, jars full of mini nail polishes, manicure sets, lip glosses, moisturizers, bath soaps or beads, slippers, and many other assorted beauty items. Each hostess, provided with a small personalized gift case made especially for her, can take time before the shower wraps up to collect some personal items for themselves. The personalized case will serve as a keepsake so make it something unique. With the variety of beauty items available, each person will surely go home with a smile on her face.

Another great idea is a monogrammed purse holder. What is the likelihood that most if not all of your bridal shower attendees will bring a purse to the event? The probability is extremely high that they all will bring a purse, which makes a monogrammed purse holder a superb gift. The purse holder is pretty, personal, and protective of your purse. The monogrammed disk rests on top the table as the hook extends underneath the tabletop to hold the purse so you don't have to place your purse on the floor and it is kept out of the way.

Saying thank you to the women of your bridal party with personal gifts is something they will love. Show them how much you appreciate the time, thought, and effort they have given to making this special day and time unforgettable.
